How we are organised

To make sure that relationships are personal there is a key worker for each resident. It's the job of the key worker to make the move to Mansfield Manor as easy as possible and to make sure that every resident gets the best out of the home.

In the quest for quality care we are committed to ensuring that our staff are highly trained to give our residents the finest quality care. All the staff are recognised as highly valued members of our team and ongoing training is provided with the opportunity to gain nationally recognised qualifications. The home manager and the owners hold the prestigious Registered Managers' Award. A team of highly qualified RGN Nurses are led by an experienced Nurse Manager. The owner has an active daily input in to monitoring of care standards to give a further quality assurance benchmark.

There is a very high percentage of staff trained to NVQ level 2/3. The staff are chosen after rigorous selection process to ensure they have the necessary characteristics such as patience, kindness, honesty and sense of humour.

"The fact that the home has the facilities of a luxury 5 hotel and the highest care standards makes me feel safe and secure".*

Our medical back up

There are several local doctors practices nearby. Many of the people who come to live at Mansfield Manor prefer to keep their own family doctor, which we encourage. If this is not practical, residents can register with one of the local practices. Professional nursing tasks are carried out by a team of our highly qualified nurses as well as local district nurses who visit Mansfield Manor regularly.

There are local dentists, opticians and chiropodists. Even if a resident becomes very frail, we will continue to provide quality care. If more specialised care is necessary, the doctor may advise a hospital admission, but we would expect people to return to us as soon as the need for hospital is over.

“My bedroom has an en suite and I spend much of my time enjoying the beautiful landscaped gardens”.

We care 24 hours a day

The quality of care and attention found here gives residents and their families, the confidence and contentment daily living demands. Every bedroom is linked into our Nurse Call system with qualified staff in attendance or on call at all times.

Sophisticated smoke and heat detectors feature throughout the house, and of course, full central heating provides complete warmth and comfort at all times. All complimented by an air of informality and friendliness. Mansfield Manor offers the finest in residential, nursing and dementia care for the elderly.

Some Other Features

An important feature is the involvement of residents in decisions about the way the home is run. Every resident is encouraged to contribute to discussions about daily living arrangements. Those who live at Mansfield Manor have a genuine say in what it should be like. Consultation meetings are held regularly with residents and their families to keep them up to date with our policies and future plans. We also keep in touch with various religious denominations, as we believe that maintaining cultural and religious links is important to personal well-being.
